The Sjögren's Society of Canada is excited to be holding our 12th National Patient Conference to better educate people and their families about Sjögren's Syndrome and to help them manage this complex disease more effectively.

We are excited to welcome a full line-up of Sjögren's experts this spring. Attendees will gain insights into this complicated disease, network with others with similar experiences, learn management strategies and emerge with new directions for the future.

Sjögren's symptoms vary from person to person and that is why it is important to educate yourself and connect with others with similar challenges.

Participants will have the opportunity to gather current information from expert presenters, and interact with the Professionals to have YOUR questions answered. You will also be able to discuss products directly with our Exhibitors.
